

Sam Hsiang's Website Testimonial —

Any audio recording can demonstrate David's rich singing voice, but only by entering his teaching studio can one experience his excellence in and passion for teaching singing. I came from an instrumental background having never sung before, but David's energy swept me up and taught me thoroughly. I spent two years studying vocal technique and exploring different genres of music under David's guidance, a journey that not only saw the development of my solo voice but also drew me towards his Quest Singers, where I enjoyed singing timeless choral arrangements of both sacred and popular music. Since my lessons with David, and following my graduation from high school, I'm now a member of the Harvard University Glee Club! David's lessons gave me my voice, but his warmth and charisma gifted me with the confidence to take the stage.
